From the President

The 2014 American National was a resounding success! It truly was a National show with exhibitors from all over the country and big entries in almost every class. Thanks to the Oklahoma Kansas Welsh Society who made this show something exceptional- fun filled parties including the exhibitors party and the ice cream social as well as a children's coloring contest were just a small part. The reappearance of Roadster classes were also a special treat. Thanks to all of our sponsors and the many people who worked hard to make the American National Show a hit! Make sure you mark it on your calendar for next year- you don't want to miss it!

Speaking of showing, the WPCSA has sometimes been criticized for putting too much emphasis on showing. I read something the other day concerning showing (actually it was about Jack Russell Terriers) but I think it applies to the showing of our ponies and cobs. Why are shows an important part of WPCSA activities? First of all most people join the WPCSA because they either want to show and/or breed ponies and cobs. I quote (substituting Welsh for JRT) "Shows provide an opportunity for owners to get to know each other, get together with Welsh friends, and in general have a good time with their Welsh. The shows also provide the necessary opportunity to see the breeding stock from around the country in the flesh. This interaction between fellow breeders, as well as between breeders and other Welsh enthusiasts, foster continued improvement in the breeding of quality ponies and cobs."

Make your plans to join us in sunny warm Orlando, Florida for our AGM on February 26 - March 1.

Our Welsh Ponies and Cobs demonstrated that they really can do it all at the 3rd consecutive WPCSA American National Show in Tulsa, Oklahoma, September 25-28. Judged by Daniel Morgan of Wales, Samantha Johnson and John Sullivan of the US and with help from their exhibitors, the ponies and cobs filled classes with beautiful performances, impressed crowds of spectators and made many friends.

Large classes, some filling the arena and some having to be split, were the largest and best many of the exhibitors had faced. Just watching the parade down center aisle as they went to their classes was a treat. The Children's 11 and Under classes were filled with a total of 100 entries. Thirty three exhibitors competed in the Ridden Welsh Classic and the Pet Pony divisions. The C/D 5 & Over Mare class was a joy to watch with 18 beautiful cob mares and the Costume class provided some creative fun.

The aisles were particularly colorful as tack stalls were decorated for the debut Tack Stall Awards. Best use of theme, best breed promotion and best overall tack stall design division titles were sought seriously by sixteen entries. The hospitality booth/lounge was frequented by exhibitors throughout the four days. Traditionally exhibitors bring their favorite homemade cookies to add to the goodies.

The Exhibitors' Party on Thursday evening, sponsored by Waller Farms, provided exhibitors and friends an opportunity to visit and enjoy a wonderful barbeque dinner prepared and presented by OKWPS board member Ranae Hicks Smith. The Ice Cream Social, sponsored by the Red River Welsh Pony Association, held Saturday night was new this year and was a hit as many came back for seconds and thirds. Door prizes and silent auction items, donated by pony farms, businesses and the OKWPS added to the fun. And the annual coloring contest was once again a magnet for young artists who displayed their work in the 'gallery.'

The program featured 34 pages of farm ads. Strong support by sponsors allowed the show committee to make the show memorable. Ribbons and trophies were custom designed by Pam Johnson with each displaying the American National logo. Each exhibitor received an American National tote bag and pin and championship level sponsors received a beautiful red, white and blue ribbon to display. The silent auction was full of creative and useful items many of which were donated by exhibitors and the new tee shirt colors were popular as shirts sold out early once again.

This was the third year the Oklahoma-Kansas Welsh Pony Society hosted and produced the newly formatted American National at the Tulsa State Fair. Each year the show has grown in stature and quality.

Ponies and cobs came from each corner of the US to compete for National titles. Twenty six exhibitors new to the American National show competed this year.

Aline Hicks began the tradition of Welsh Ponies at the Tulsa State Fair in 1969 when she convinced the Fair Board to include a Welsh exhibit. The next year the TSF granted them a Welsh Pony Show. OKWPS and Connie Moore as superintendent have kept the show progressing the last thirty years. With a strong base and $10,000 in payback money to Welsh exhibitors, the show is the highlight of the season for many. Ponies and cobs from 18 states and Canada have shown during the last three years.

"We always had a favorite show and Tulsa is it. It was even better this year than we remembered. The people were wonderfully friendly and helpful as they always are at Tulsa. There were lots of fun extra events. We had a blast!" Bonnie Barbey, Colorado.

The show committee, comprised of the OKWPS board of directors Phillip Orear, Connie Moore, Denise Dougherty, Ranae Hicks Smith (Aline Hicks' granddaughter), Pam Johnson, Bev Pyron, and Winona Myers, strives to make the show a great experience for those who make the trip. We invite all Welsh Pony and Cob owners to join us for the 2015 WPCSA American National Show in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Welsh and Part-bred Welsh Ponies at the 2014 US Pony Finals

Submitted by Kathryn Southard

Ponies and riders from across the nation gathered at the beautiful Kentucky Horse Park for the US Pony Finals held August 4-10 in Lexington, KY. A national pony championship has been held in the United States since 1967. This year out of 207 green ponies entered, there were 49 identified as registered with the WPCSA. In the regular divisions, out of 358 ponies entered, there were 87 identified as WPCSA registered.

The WPCSA awards ribbons to the top four Pure or Half/Part-Bred Welsh ponies in each of the regular and green divisions (Small, Medium and Large). This year, the highest scoring ponies each received a beautiful garland created by Shawn Bigley (Westwood Welsh), a colorful neck sash, a trophy, a $250 stipend and a leather halter with brass plate (compliments of Sally Steinmetz and Just For Ponies).

High Score WPCSA Small Green

BRIGHT SHINING FACE

Bristol Elan 1981 – 2014

(Coed Coch Ballog x Lithgow Wishnik)

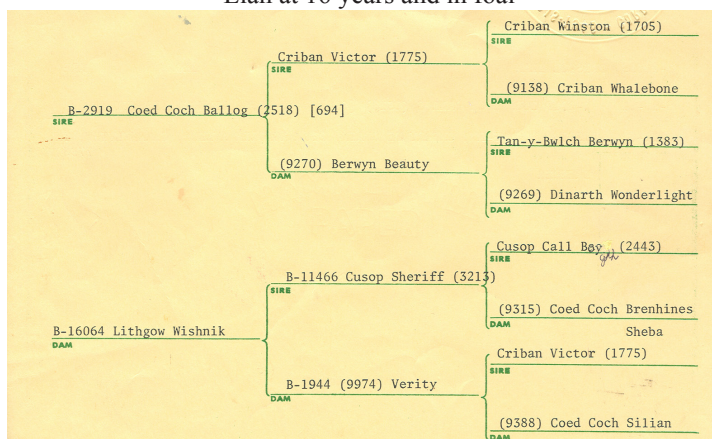

by Cherry Wilson of Bristol Pony

ELAN n. spirit, dash.

In fifty years with Welsh I never more aptly named any pony. Right from the first I knew this one was different, and so she was from beginning to end. I first showed Bristol Elan when she was five years old, her winning Supreme Champion and beating out four National Champion stallions. This win was especially meaningful to me, the judge being Cecil Hetzel Dunn, a highly respected AHSA judge. Elan went on to win much in hand, English pleasure (saddle seat) and Pleasure Driving, and was AHSA Horse of the Year among other major awards. But this tribute to her is not just about her show ring accomplishments, and they were many, she also left a grand legacy, her descendants gracing herds from coast to coast. Most recently a great grand daughter was Junior Champion at the National. Also to illustrate what a very special individual she was, in 1984 Mrs. Mountain of Twyford Stud, officiated a WPCSA clinic in Houston and chose Elan as the most proper section B there. And when Mr. Len Bigley of Llanarth visited us here at the farm years back, Elan was the one he wanted to buy and take home. She was a study in conformation, a unique blend of substance, refinement, and elegance. An ancient Welsh color, she was a rich dark brown, and was linebred to Section B founding father Criban Victor. As she aged, more silver hairs came until her legs and head were almost all silver. Many pony people across this land knew and loved Elan. Rather than just list her and her descendants show ring wins, I'd like to share some about her, the pony, with you, and the care of old ones.

Elan at 16 years and in foal

As ponies age often their care becomes more difficult and more expensive. If you decide to keep going with them to the end, surprising circumstances probably will arise, and you must be willing and able to deal with them. We were so very fortunate to have as our helper the most wonderful and perfect horse lady vet, Marla Van Dyke, who loved old Elan, and whom we consider a good friend. For many years we worked together on Elan's care, and she was always reachable for us by phone or email. That is so important to have a great vet and one who truly cares about the animal and has great experience with older equines. And no one loved her more or cared for her better than my husband John. I have owned probably at least a hundred very aged ponies of different breeds, and while they require more effort, time and expense, they are so worthwhile.

Elan had the usual arthritis, aches, pains etc. that come with age, but also a bum knee which only got worst. Finally, she could no longer bend the knee back to have her feet trimmed. If you have one of these, it is possible to trim the hoof by setting it on a block, trimming the front and then the back. Some of them can also bring the leg forward until the leg is straight, but off the ground for trimming. We used heat wraps, DMSO and other meds for a bit of relief. We also dealt with a hoof abscess and complications for over a year. Towards the end of her life she was on Bute, off and on, and Previcox off and on. The equine Previcox paste is expensive but the lower dose dog pill works great and is far less expensive, (thank you Margaret Blackert). And Previcox is kinder to the gut than Bute. It is easy to get the pill into them by sticking it in the end of a syringe of probiotic, then they get a bit of that also to help protect the gut. Twice we had to give her the ulcer Rx due to Bute, but it really works.

If you have an old one who is a very picky eater, as Elan was, you will need to try different feeds until you find one they like. Then they might change what they like and will eat several times a day. For some years Elan did not have her teeth floated as there was nothing there to float. In today's equine world not a problem at all as so many good pelleted feeds are on the market. The main one Elan ate and her mother too, is called One And Only a complete feed. If they still can not chew it, just use water, anywhere from a little to soften a bit to a lot to form a sort of soup. The pans will get dirty so you have to clean them often. About the last six months of her life she really did not care for the feed much, too bland. A trick is apples, as almost no horse can resist them. In your kitchen blender, grind up an apple, couple tablespoons sugar, full of water. It's not too much twice a day and they love it. When cold outside use very hot water----yum. So old Elan got her apple smoothie twice a day, along with her vitamins, that's all she needed. Elan did not eat regular meals, just nibbled all day and all night, so we could not keep her in with another animal, and she had feed in front of her 24/7.

Elan lived just out our back door and since the back of our house is glass, we could see her at all times. She had the run of two five acre pastures with two sheds, lots of shade and tons of grass, of course which she could not eat. If you live in a very hot climate as we do, you must be sure they are drinking enough water in summer. You can pull the skin out on the neck to see if it pops right back. If not, take a small length of tube, put in a teaspoonful of salt, put into their mouth and blow. You will be sure they get the salt and I have never had it fail to get them to drink. Fancier more expensive stuff is available but this works. Of course you should have at all times and for all ponies, free choice salt. To combat the severe heat of summer, Elan had a favorite shade tree where she stood most all day. It was a simple matter to run a water line and weave a mister into a branch. After she learned about it being cooler there, she basked in the mist all day.

She was such a delight to have around and so gorgeous just to look at, pony royalty, and we felt privileged to have been her caretakers for 33 ½ years. But when that dreaded time comes, they will always let you know, and you must do the right thing for them. If you can have them around in relative comfort, even if there are problems, then ok, but if there is suffering involved then the time has come to say good-bye.

I hope these things can be a help to some of you as your ponies age. Old ones still enjoy company, brushing, scratching, an occasional bath etc. Elan loved being free and doing her own thing. She was spirited and tough right to the end. I learned far more from her than I ever taught to her, about class and dignity and the fighting spirit, about perseverance and grace. She had a bright shining face, even in the moonlight, and we will miss her so.

RHOSON PASIANT 1991-2014

(Downland Rembrant x Pennwood Santa Monica
by Downland Mujib)
BORN RHOSON STUD, WALES

It is with deep sadness that Morton Stables announces that their very good friend Pasant was put to rest following complications of colic. He was imported as a foal and had an illustrious career winning many Supreme Championships in both Canada and the USA. Our son Ray Broke him to drive and he was practically unbeatable in cross country and cones competition and was named Bronze Medalist to Canada and USA. Our daughter Angela broke him to ride so he was truly versatile. But it was with his offspring that he truly shone as he had winners as hunter ponies and driving at prestigious shows like Devon, The Pony Finals, The Royal, Upperville and the list is endless. He has climbed the USEF sire rating list with his talented children. He has left a dynasty of both purebred and partbred sportponies for owners all over North America and scored an incredible 9.1 at the NASPR inspection making him a First Premium Premiere breeding stallion.

Twelve years ago in a freak accident he shattered his knee and broke his front leg and endured months of casting and physio but bounced back to a normal healthy life although with a very crooked leg which never slowed him down as he had such a love of life. Right up to the end he was the picture of health and energy and looked like half his age.

His most endearing quality was his ultra sweet disposition and gentle kind, curious disposition. He was one in a million and will be greatly missed by so many who loved him.

GUARANTEED GOLD!

The WPCSA Board of Directors is pleased and excited to announce a major change in the rules for Show Sanctioning! Beginning with the 2015 show season, there will be NO minimum number of ponies needed for Gold or Silver shows! Gold shows will now need a $100 sanctioning fee per judge, must offer $600 in prize money to be offered equally across ten divisions, and offer 12 breeding divisions and 10 performance divisions. Silver show requirements will remain essentially the same but all judges must be WPCSA Approved or WPCSA Provisional (i.e. no guest judges). This new rule is being implemented on a two year trial and will be reviewed at the fall meeting in 2016. The Board of Directors thanks the WPCSA Show Committee for their hard work and suggestions that brought about this change. Director Sally Steinmetz laid out a clear committee report that gave a good overview of discussions, opinions, and suggestions from all regions of the country.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Make plans to join us from February 26 - March 1 at the WPCSA Annual Convention to be held at the Embassy Suites in Orlando, Florida. We will start with Committee and Board meetings on Thursday. Friday and Saturday will be reserved for our seminars, Annual General Meeting, awards banquets and auction. We will conclude on Sunday morning with a judge's clinic. Visit our website for full details!
